S&L whistle-blower faces federal charges

By PERRY URBAN
Houston Chronicle 9/92

A man said to have been an instrumental source in unraveling the savings and loan crisis was in Harris County Jail Monday on federal charges of making threatening interstate telephone calls.

Stewart Anthony Webb, 38, allegedly made the calls to his former father-in-law, wealthy Denver businessman Leonard Millman.

Webb contends the FBI unjustly arrested him because of pressure from Millman. But a spokesman for the agency's Denver office denied any government impropriety.

Jonathan C. Beaty, a senior correspondent for Time magazine, wrote a letter in support of Webb.

"The news articles that Mr. Webb contributed to exposed a pattern of illicit political influence in Denver and led to the indictments, and subsequent convictions, of several businessmen," said Beaty's letter played in court records.

Webb, who had lived in Houston for about a year before his recent arrest, is expected to be returned to Colorado for trial.

H. Michael Sokolow, a public defender, wrote in an emergency appeal to reduce Webb's $50,000 bond that Webb provided information to Congress pertaining to the late 1980s influence peddling scandal in the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Webb, a construction contractor by trade, also provided information to lawyers and investigators in the failure of Lincoln and Silverado savings and loans, Sokolow said.

"Mr. Webb," he wrote, "is a political whistle-blower on fraud on the highest levels of federal institutions."

Webb claims tape-recorded conversations between him and Millman, on which the FBI based its charges, were made during a child custody dispute in the mid-1980s. An FBI affidavit said the conversations were made from Independence, Mo., to Denver from 1987 to 1991.

The government, in response to the bond-reduction motion, said Webb has outstanding warrants for failure to appear in two drunken-driving cases last year. The motion was denied.

(The West Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals holds that a prosecutor may not prevent a citizen from presenting a complaint to the Grand Jury. "To fulfill its function of protecting individual citizens and providing them with a forum for bringing complaints within the criminal justice system, the Grand Jury must be open to the public for the independent presentation of evidence before it. If the Grand Jury is available only to the prosecuting attorney and all complaints must pass through him, the Grand Jury can justifiably be described as a prosecutorial tool...We therefore hold that, by application to the Circuit Judge, whose duty it is to insure access to the Grand Jury, any person may to the Grand Jury to present a complaint to it."

Furthermore, the Court continues, a prosecutor may not render unsworn testimony in an attempt to dissuade the Grand Jury from hearing the Citizen's evidence. Finally, a writ of prohibition will lie to prevent a prosecutor from attempting to discourage the Grand Jury from hearing the complaint. (Miller v. Smith; W Va Sup Ct App, 12/18/81).

If a U.S./District Attorney fails/refuses to sign and execute a valid Grand Jury Indictment, the Grand Jury can hold that U.S./District Attorney in Contempt and order the Sheriff or Marshals to arrest and hold him in jail until he either signs and executes the Indictment or else resigns his job as U.S./District Attorney (Public Servant). This is the absolute power of the Grand Jury, and the Sheriff/Marshal, as executor of the Grand Jury's will.

NATURE OF CASE AND BACKGROUND FACT

Plaintiff, along with others (numerous witnesses) unnamed at this time, have documentation and evidence from "first person" observation that will show above named Defendants and unnamed Defendants and others have engaged in Continuous Criminal activity against the Plaintiff Stewart Webb.

Plaintiff is well apprised of making false statements to a government agency under 18 USC 35, 1001, 2071 and others and demands to bring forth evidence under oath or affirmation as to the substance of these allegations.

Plaintiff wishes to notice the Court and that it would be a MISPRISION OF FELONY under 18 USC 4 to fail to disclose felonious acts that have been witnessed by or that have come to the attention of the Plaintiff.
